Socialism, Communism Alike, Says Pulliam

2,000 Told British Losing Out

Notables Throng C. of C. Dinner

By GEORGE COMINOS

Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the Indianapolis Star, told the Chamber of Commerce banquet audience last night that Mansfield is a great community "because you live in a climate of freedom."

Pulliam spoke to a crowd of 2,023 persons, who filled the coliseum for the 37th annual dinner meeting of the C of C and the Mansfield Manufacturers' club. The crowd included army, navy and government notables.

The dynamic speaker, introduced as a one-time police reporter, lashed out at Communism and Socialism—lumping them in the same category as "reactionary, cruel and ruthless."

He told his audience that America has achieved greatness because the men who settled America came seeking freedom. Those people knew, he said, that they were "building a climate of freedom."

WORKER'S REPUBLIC

"This is a worker's Republic. Ninety per cent of the people work and work hard. Everything you hold dear — your businesses, your institutions, your schools are due to one word—freedom."

He said the American people "take freedom for granted," but warned that America must maintain its free institutions because "the fate of the world for the next 200 years depends on how America performs."

"Keep America free. If we do, then some day the world will be free, too." He said that was the divine mission of this country.

Drawing on his recent trip to Europe and 14 other countries of the world, the speaker said he found four tragic facts "that slap you in the face wherever you go"

First listed by Pulliam was Communists' efforts to stir up trouble with the United States.

Another thing he found was that the Communists in Europe are telling the people that America is imperialistic. "We're not imperialistic. We don't want what other people have."

The third thing he found was

ENTERTAIN 2,000—Some super entertainment was included in the "bill of fare" at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner at the Coliseum last night. Ice Blamed In Mishap

Ice-glazed roads were responsible for at least one injury resulting from a traffic accident in the area this morning. Traffic conditions were hazardous early today but were improving during the day as the temperature mounted.

In an early morning accident, Melvin Umfleet, 27, of Perrysville, R. D. 1, was injured when the car in which he was riding overturned on State Route 39 approximately two miles west of the Richland-Ashland county line.

According to the State Patrol, R. E. Umfleet, also of Perrysville, R. D. 1, lost control of his auto when he encountered ice on a turn, and rolled over.

Melvin Umfleet was treated at the General hospital for lacerations on the face and was admitted to the hospital to be x-rayed for a possible fractured back.

A vacation trip to Florida was temporarily halted shortly before 8:30 this morning, when the car in which Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rahn, of Lakewood, Ohio, were riding, overturned four miles north of Mansfield on U. S. Route 42. According to the State Highway Patrol, Mrs. Rahn lost control of the car when she hit an icy spot, and slipped off the road onto the berm, and then rolled down a three-foot embankment. Neither of the car's occupants were injured.

The temperature climbed to 37 at noon from a low of 26 degrees at 2:30 a. m. Yesterday's high was 34.

The week end outlook was for milder weather, but overcast skies and occasional light rain was also forecast by the weatherman. Sunday night the weather was to be clearer and colder, the weatherman said.

Meanwhile new blizzards and a cold wave swept into the Dakotas today and the weather bureau warned that the entire midwest was in for colder weather by Sunday night.

FBI Agents Throw Fake Hero In Jail

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Walter C. Craine's days as a war "hero" are over and he's in county jail in default of $1,000 bail. The 54-year-old electrician, a World War I Marine private, bought a braided master sergeant's uniform with 44 medals, including the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military award.

He took a position of honor in the Freedom Train parade here last August and again at an Armistice day Marine banquet.

When the FBI brought him before U. S. Commissioner H. A. Horn yesterday, Craine admitted: "I did wrong."

Ask Troops Be Released

RHODES — (AP) — Egyptians began negotiations today for the release of an estimated 3,000 Egyptian troops trapped by Israeli forces at Faluja, in Palestine's Negev desert.

This ws the second major item on the agenda for Armistice negotiations aimed at ending Israeli-Egyptian warfare and bringing full peace to the Holy Land.

Both sides agreed yesterday, in conferences under the eye of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, the United Nations acting Palestine m to halt all offensive military operations during the period of the talks and to respect each other's national security.

Spokesmen said details of the armistice preamble adopted yesterday would not be made public until the discussions end perhaps next week.

Marshalls Fly To Puerto Rico

PINEHURST, N. C.—(AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall and Mrs. Marshall embarked by plane today for San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The general, whose resignation is effective Jan. 20, and Mrs. Marshall left their resort home here for Pope field, where an air force Constellation plane awaited them.

4 Postal Trucks Due

City's Old Vehicles To Be Replaced

Mansfield's aged postal trucks are about to be replaced by new ones.

Congressman J. Harry McGregor of the 17th district said today four new vehicles are due to arrive within a few days.

The new trucks will replace some of the antiquated vehicles now being used by the post office here for delivery of mail.

Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford said the post office has seven trucks in service, five of which are 17 to 20 years old. The other two are 1943 Army trucks.

McGregor said he would continue to use every effort to see that the antique models are replaced. He added it is "not good business to operate trucks which are 12 years old or older in this type of work."

Blast Wrecks 'Shine Still

ATLANTA — (UP) — A moonshine still blew up with a tremendous blast near Atlanta last night, and investigators feared that its operators might have been killed.

A search for bodies was launched at dawn.

Buildings shook as far as three miles away, and the explosion was heard in communities 10 miles away.

'Pitcher' Takers Get Laughs

Snappy Program Delights Big Crowd

By NITA BRANSON

Entertainment at the record-breaking Mansfield Chamber of Commerce dinner last night moved at a fast pace.

It was the kind of entertainment that keeps the audience in good spirits and ready for a program of more serious vein, such as Eugene C. Pulliam's talk on "Communism."

The first thing that induced laughter at the dinner was the taking of the "official" photograph of the crowd. This was done by Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Gibson, W. J. Bishop and Mrs. Bishop, dressed as Bohemian characters are supposed to dress but usually don't.

Calling themselves the "Four Fun Makers," they moved about on the stage attempting to get a "pitcher" of the audience.

All the while William Morrison at the organ provided a muted musical background for the noise of the gathering crowd.

Prior to the start of serving Rev. Matthew G. Madden gave the invocation while the audience stood after singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

All during the serving, the stage was filled with "entertaining folk," ready with their quips, or music to provide a light and interesting appetizer to the good meal.

'CAPERS' OPEN PROGRAM

The program started off with "Dixie Capers," a group of minstrel men from Mansfield's chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Bar-

GOP Maps T-H Moves

WASHINGTON, — (AP) — Republican Senators Taft of Ohio and Ives of New York today charted strategy to block the drive for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

The goal of the GOP team, as outlined by Ives, is to trim from the law certain features most objectionable to its administration foes, as well as some backers. President Truman has aked Congress to replace Taft-Hartley with an "improved" Wagner act—the labor relations law passed in 1937.

Taft says he is confident that all the major Taft-Hartley provisions will survive the repeal drive.

But he apparently is willing to modify or get rid of some others to win votes for what he regards as the essential sections.

Greeks Rout Rebel Force

New Cabinet Being Formed

ATHENS — (INS) — Greek troops, using planes and armored cars, today recaptured the northern town of Naoussa and pursued retreating communist rebels.

Government dispatches said there was no news as to the fate of a 400 man garrison in Naoussa, which was believed wiped out, save for seven men.

The town, which lies 90 miles west of Salonika was seized by the communists yesterday in a lightning thrust.

Coincident with the military action, Premier Themistocles Sophoulis was reported to have agreed to form a new "strong cabinet" rather than resign.

The Athens news agency said that the 88-year-old premier decided to remain in office after a meeting with King Paul.

Sophoulis last night planned to resign after attempts to broaden his Populist-Liberal coalition cabinet collapsed.

George Papandreou, Social Democratic leader, said that non-government parties felt that Sophoulis, who has undergone several heart attacks recently, was in too poor health to remain at the head of the government.

Prince Angered By Press Notices

CANNES — (UP) — Prince Aly Khan, angered by the attention accorded by the press to his globe-trotting romance with movie actress Rita Hayworth, ordered newsmen to leave the grounds of his palatial Riviera villa today.

The prince sent his 200-pound chauffeur and bodyguard to inform newsmen that they "must leave these premises immediately." "If you don't get off the property, it will make Prince Aly very angry," the bodyguard said.

Give Ships to Reds

ROME —(INS)— An Italian foreign office spokesman announced that warships to be surrendered to the Soviet Union starting today will "not be handed over until United States warships are returned from Russia."

Faces Death for Buddies

Ohio Paratrooper Keeps Cool; Saves 36

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.—(AP)—A veteran paratrooper prodded 36 trainees out of a stricken "Flying Boxcar" and then rode the ship until it crashed and burned. The crew of three was killed.

Sgt. Robert Lee Hodgkiss of Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, the 24-year-old jump master, who was unhurt, told interviewers:

"We didn't have time to final check parachute harness. I just yelled: 'Stand up! Hookup! Jump!'"

The 36 men cleared the plane yesterday in about seven seconds, using doors on both sides, Hodgkiss said.

After his men "Hit the Silk," the 24-year-old combat veteran said the plane was too low for him to jump.

"I braced, sat down in a canvas jump seat, and thought 'This is it. What of my wife and child?'"

The plane sheared off one tree at the base and uprooted another and then caught fire.

"I ran to the front of the plane and got one of the crewmen out of the burning compartment but it was too late. He was dead," Hodgkiss related.

The paratroopers were members of the 82nd Airborne division based at Pope field near here. The plane was from the 37th Troop Carrier Squadron, 316th Carrier group at the Greenville (S. C.) Air Force base.

Tientsin Falls to Red Army

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Government troops ceased all organized resistance to Red attackers at Tientsin today, reports reaching here said.

These reports said that except for small arms and cannon fire, China's northern industrial commercial center fell into comparative silence as the communists moved in to complete occupation of the city.

Reports reaching here at 1 p. m. Shanghai time (midnight Friday, EST) said the Reds who shelled Tientsin into submission were occupying large portions of the city including both the former British and French concessions.

Victorious troops of Red Gen. Lin Piao, conqueror of Manchuria, seized the burning city after a fierce artillery barrage that devastated old landmarks and many buildings.

Radio reports from the "gateway to north China" described the city of 3,000,000 as one of death and desolation.

Many civilians were killed. Hospitals are jammed with wounded.

Down broad Victoria road, which winds through the heart of the former British concession, the Red conquerors marched, stopping in front of the U. S. consulate to fire their rifles into the air.

Before the United States Information Service office in the former French concession, a few blocks away, they stopped and fired their rifles into the air again as Americans watched from the roof of the building.

FALL CONFIRMED

Confirmation of Tientsin's fall came in messages received in Nanking, where the blow to the Nationalist cause is certain to have terrific repercussions.

Victor at Tientsin frees Lin's troops for an all out assault on the port of Tangku, 27 miles down the Hai river, and Taku, rail terminal, opposite Tangku on the river front.

Peiping may be the next big city attacked by the infuriated Reds, whose leader, Mao Tze-Tung, only yesterday laid down an eight point peace program and punctuated it with the boast that more military victories would bring Chiang's government to its knees.

U. S. Consul General Robert Smyth of Berkeley, Calif., reported all members of his staff were safe despite shell bursts which damaged windows and doors of the consular building.

"So far as can be ascertained all other Americans (totalling more than 80 persons) are safe," Smyth messaged.

Several large fires were reported raging in the city which was without water and electrical power.

Offers Vet Pension Bill

Bills to provide for the setting aside of 10 per cent of the annual national revenue for debt reduction and to provide $50 a month pensions for World War I and II veterans over 55 have been introduced in the House of Representative by Congressman J. Harry McGregor, of the 17th district.

He said he feels the government is just a "big individual" and if an individual has a debt, he naturally makes definite arrangements for the liquidation of his indebtedness, McGregor thinks the federal government should do the same thing.

The pension bill would grant $50 a month pensions to veterans between 55 and 60 and an additional $2 a month for each year over 60.

The congressman contends this legislation would assure security to those who served during the war emergencies.

Although the money involved might be considered a large amount, the records available at this time show total costs would be less than five per cent of the money that is being allocated to foreign nations, McGregor said.

McGregor commented that if money can be sent to pay the soldiers and people of foreign nations, the same recognition should be given the people at home.

Indians Flee Zulu Attackers

Fighting Leaves 400 Injured

DURBAN, Union of South Africa — (AP) — Three hundred Indians and native blacks are believed to have been killed in two days of race rioting in the Durban area. Nearly 400 have been injured.

The rioting ebbed somewhat today after the intervention of South African armed forces but sporadic outbreaks occurred in several suburbs.

Officials in Johannesburg made the casualty estimate. They said a majority of the Indians are evacuating Durban, fleeing to surrounding villages with their few remaining possessions.

The fighting was between native blacks and Indians. One European was killed and another seriously injured as a result of the two-day riot. It was the first time South African military units have been called to quell racial violence. The damage was estimated at one million dollars.

Defense Minister F. C. Erasmus wired Durban that if the situation grew worse he would proclaim a state of emergency.

Guns and stones, fire and clubs have been used in the clashes over the last 48 hours.

HUNDREDS HOMELESS

The injured totaled more than 300 and hundreds of others are destitute and homeless. Whole streets of Indian houses and stores have been burned down or looted.

The rioting broke out Thursday, when a young native boy was injured by an Indian market peddler. He was taken to a hospital and reports spread that he had been killed.

The incident snowballed into wholesale native attacks on the Indians. Whole families were slain in their homes.

By the time the armed forces quelled the rioting in the city, it had spread to the suburbs.

Entire residential areas were put to the torch. Indian homes and stores were looted by native rioters, chanting Zulu battle cries.

Natives cannot vote in parliamentary elections.

The Indians have about the same status as the natives.

Asiatic land tenure and representation acts prevent them from purchasing or leasing property, except in certain specified areas, and give them only group representation in provincial councils and parliament.

Prime Minister Daniel Mulan's nationalist government has adopted a policy of complete segregation for all natives and elimination of any representation for Africans and Indians in the country's legislatures.

Asks Change In Spy Laws

WASHINGTON, — (AP) — A sweeping revision of the espionage laws has been proposed by Attorney General Clark as protection against "the treacherous operations of those who would weaken our nation internally."

He asked Congress for unprecedented peacetime power to press spy charges no matter how long ago the offense occurred, and said law officers should have the legal right to tap wires for evidence in such cases.

The bill Clark sent last night to House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) of the Senate Judiciary committee embodied the unanimous recommendations of an interdepartmental committee made up of FBI, army and navy intelligence experts.

Their submission to Congress follows an 18-month investigation by a special federal grand jury in New York City into alleged foreign spying in this country, and a lengthy and sensational inquiry into the same subject by the House un-American Activities committee.

Walter Lippmann Says:

Russians' Presence Retarding Recovery

The interim report from Europe on the prospects of the Marshall plan will not be easy to reconcile with the theory held by many but not all who are in high places—that the balance of forces between the Soviets and the west is progressively improving, and that it is advantageous to postpone the negotiation of partial settlements.

"The Economist" in London, which speaks with great authority, says that "the Marshall plan, in the rather simple form originally conceived, cannot succeed within time originally set. There is no means by which the Marshall countries can, even with the present scale of American aid, prevent a serious fall in their standards of living in 1952. If the time were longer—fifteen or twenty years—they could do more; but as a four-year proposition, the task is beyond their joint resources."

This conclusion rests on official estimates which are in themselves admittedly extremely optimistic about European prospects—as for example, that the European output per man hour can, despite the scarcity of capital, be increased by 15 per cent in the four years; that European exports can capture half of the American market in South America; and that the American export industry "will reconcile itself to the permanent loss of its European markets" and "permit discrimination against itself."

These disclosures, arising out of the experience of the first year of ERP, will, says "The Economist," be "greeted with indignation as well as regret." Not necessarily with indignation. Not if the truth is candidly presented to the Eighty-first Congress.

American public opinion is sufficiently matured and educated not to give way to a paroxysm of despair because a great experiment, necessarily one of trial and error, is showing that new decisions are needed.

For practical experience of the Marshall plan has shown that while American aid to Europe is not going to produce the results hoped for when it was adopted, its real function has been to provide the stricken nations with time to face their problems. Had the countries been compelled to adjust suddenly and immediately their standards of life to their actual earning power, the strain on their governments and their institutions would have been intolerable.

Whether the strain would have resulted in communism, fascism, or anarchy is debatable; it is certain that the essential freedoms and decencies of their lives would have been impaired.

AID TO CONTINUE

For that reason the American people, and this Congress, will not cut off Marshall aid, even when they realize that the great objectives—European economic independence and unity—are not within sight of being reached.

What we did not see clearly last year, but can see much more clearly now, is that these great readjustments within most of the European countires cannot be averted by the Marshall plan. Nor can they be postponed indefinitely. It is here that the cold war, in its present phase, enters into the problem.

There is no immediate danger, provided we maintain a firm policy backed by our rearmament, of a Soviet military conquest of Europe. Nor is there any present danger of a communist seizure of power in Western Europe, especially if we enable France and Italy to augment the forces required to maintain order at home.

The real problem is how to provide the European continent with the confidence to dare to deal with its internal postwar readjustment. That confidence will never, I think can never, exist, as long as the Russian Army is in the heart of Europe.

It will not exist after the North Atlantic pact is signed. It will not exist after we have adopted military lend-lease.

It will not exist if we have seventy instead of fifty air groups. It can begin to exist only as and when the Russian Army begins to recede, begins to return to the frontiers of the Soviet Union.

Then, and then only, will the people of continental Europe really begin to believe that they can dare open up the internal questions that are now suppressed, and festering under the surface. A responsible French statesman complained to me that we were asking too much of him, that he should suppress the communist strike in the coal fields and then also lay new taxes on the peasants and the business men.

For while many European countries can deal with insurrection by fifth columns, they cannot feel secure enough to face their domestic problems as long as thirty-five or forty motorized divisions of the Red Army are on the Elbe within striking distance to intervene in civil disorders.

That is why, in the view of many who are entitled to judge these things, it is so desirable to seek out even partial compromise settlements—particularly for Berlin and for Austria—which will relax the tension. I know that it can be argued that if the tension is relaxed, the effort to deal with all these great issues will also be relaxed.

But it is, I believe, an unwarranted defeatism to think that the Europeans will not try to recover or that Americans will default on their responsibilities in Europe unless the conflict with the Soviet Union remains in a condition of permanent crisis.

Mann Tells New Story Of Faust

Lirary Adds Several New Books

DR. FAUSTUS, by Thomas Mann, a modern version of the Faust legend, is among the new fiction arrivals at the Mansfield Public library.

The central figure is Adrian Leverkuhn, who sold his soul for musical success. His story parallels that of modern Germany and closes with the begining of the war and the death of Leaverkuhn. This is a book to be read as a novel of ideas, rather than as a story for plot or character.

FIRE BALLOON is a novel of life on the Maine coast written by Ruth Moore, author of SPOONHANDLE. The action take place in the summer of 1947 and centers around the Sewell family; Gramm Sarah, her sons and their families. The main theme of the story is 16-year-old Theo's first love and disappointment.

TEMPER THE WIND, by Clyde Brion Davis, is a lusty, frolicsome story of a pugilist, a morose taxi-driver, a boxer's manager and a rooming house operator. There is an exciting match between the pugilist and a sailor who once stood off Joe Louis for three hours.

Other fiction:—

SECOND BURIAL, by Stevens; SPRING OF LOVE, by Mergendahl; CARAVAN OF MUSIC STORIES.

Non Fiction:

ANNE OF THE THOUAND DAYS is a new historical play by Maxwell Anderson. Based on the story of Anne Boleyn and Henry VIII, it was recently opened on Broadway with Rex Harrison in the role of the king. Opening on the days of Anne's execution the story unfolds through a series of flashbacks showing their life together.

MAN AND HIS WORKS, by Jean Melville Herkovitz, is subtitled: The Science of Cultural Anthropology. The author considers such things as the nature of culture, religion, absolutes in morality, habitat and its effect on behavior, race and sex. The writing is lucid and the book is well and attractively illustrated.

SOUTH SHORE TOWN, by Elizabeth Coatsworth, is a collection of essays about Bigham, Mass. They include reminiscenses, anecdotes and descriptions of the town, and its people, living and dead.

MAIN STREET MERCHANT, by Norman Beasley, is the story of the J. C. Penney company and its founder. The book was presented to the Library by R. H. Calene, manager of the local Penney store.

Hints New Atom Arms

WASHINGTON — (INS)—Defense Secretary Forrestal has given top priority to fusing a number of new and mysterious atomic weapons into the nation's defense plans.

Defense authorities revealed yesterday that special emphasis has been placed on the atomic arms to overcome a reported lag in preparedness plans.

Most of his orders in this connection are top-secret and authorities refuse to discuss their nature. However, they asserted that the recent creation of a so-called "weapons evaluation group" is one step in this direction.

The organization is charged with judging the military value of both atomic and non-atomic weapons and helping to fit them into current military plans.

Businesses Install Coin Changing Devices

Vendo coin changers, an automatic change making device, have been installed in several Mansfield businesses to speed up making change, especially during rush hours.

Among the businesses now using the coin changers are the Greyhound Bus depot and Max's Diner. The machines were installed by the Parkerton company, 5 Park avenue west.

New Grace Gospel Organ To Be Dedicated Sunday

Dedication of the new Wurlitzer electric organ purchased recently by the Grace Gospel church will be held Sunday at 3 p. m. with Harold Byers, organist, presenting a program.

Byers will be assisted by the choir of the church, directed by George McNair.

Although the organ has been used for the past month, installation was not completed until Thursday morning. It has been installed on the left side of the church chancel and replaces the piano used in the church for worship services since its erection. The organ was purchased for $3,400 and is nearly paid for.

Byers, a recent resident of Mansfield, has been organist since the organ was first used about a month ago. He is a sophomore student at Ashland college, where he is studying for the ministry.

A native of Williamsport, Pa., Byers took three years of organ study before coming to Mansfield with his family. Following graduation from Ashland college, Byers plans to follow his ministerial training at the Missionary Training Institute at Nyack, N. Y.

The program to be presented tomorrow includes: Invocation by the pastor, Rev. James E. Davey; "Allegretto," by Stainer; "Romance" by Sibelius "Pass Me Not O Gentle Savior" by Lorenz, and "Prelude and Fugue in D Minor" by Bach, played by Byers.

The choir will sing "Calvary," by Vaughn. Byers will continue with "The Lost Chord," by Sullivan; "Abide With Me," by Lorenz; "Will O' the Wisp," by Nevin and "Air Du Dauphin," by Roeckel.

Mrs. P. M. Stahl will sing "My Task," by Ashford. As an offertory Byers will play "Sweet Hour of Prayer," by Bradbury. The choir will sing "Thy Light is Come," by Shawker, and Byers will continue the program with four more selections. They will include: "The Old Rugged Cross," Bennard; "Finlandia," by Sibelius; "My Faith Looks Up To Thee," by Lorenz, and "Fling Out the Banner," by Stultz.

Rev. Davey will pronounce the benediction.

TWA Cuts Flight Fare

The Trans World Airline has put into effect a five per cent reduction on all round-trip fares, it was announced today by officials of the airline here.

Premium fares formerly applied to Constellation flights have been removed, and a family budget plan will be in effect from Monday hrough Wednesday during the winter. Under this plan when the husband pays full fare, his wife and minor children may fly for half-fare.

Sample basic one-way rates, to which the reductions apply, include $112.25 from Mansfield to Phoenix, Ariz., and $116.80 from Mansfield to Las Vega, Nev.

Officials of the company announced, that with figures available from all countries in the world, including Russia, Trans World Airline is the world's largest airline in terms of miles flown. According to recently compiled Civil Aeronautics board figures, the airline led the world by flying 1,421,477 scheduled miles weekly during September, 1948, base period used for the compilation.

Better Understanding Needed For U. S.-Haiti

There is ample justification for the recent State department expression of concern over the rise of unrest and anti-American feeling in Latin America. Much of that unrest is due to political machination such as that of the Perons who want Argentina (and themselves) made sufficiently powerful to challenge the United States.

But a not inconsiderable part of the anti-American sentiment is due to the racial arrogance of a few writers from the United States. An example is a correspondent of a Florida newspaper who has just written a series of articles about the vulnerable areas should another war come and a strong enemy attack the United States.

The writer, H. Stuart Morrison of the Florida Sun, selects the Republic of Haiti as the target of his incredible venom. He pours scorn on the Haitians because they are black. He gives a most distorted and inaccurate account of the invasion during the twenties of Haiti by American marines. He charges that "communism" is rife in Haiti and that "Haitian peasants spit at the heels of tourists." All this is bad enough but Mr. Morrison hints darkly that an enemy of the United States, presumably Russia, could establish submarine or air bases in the vicinity of Haiti from which attacks can be made on the United States from "radical Puerto Rico as well as pro-Communist Haiti and Cuba".

What are the facts? Not only has Haiti had no relations with the Soviet Union; it outlawed communism many months before the Ninth-Inter-American Conference at Bogota. Only a handful—the percentage being considerably lower than in the United States—of Haitians have manifested any interest in communism other than as a philosophy of government with which informed persons should be familiar.

That Haitians have considered and rejected communism as an answer to their economic, educational and other problems is all the more remarkable in the light of the depressed economic conditions in Haiti. Until quite recently the average wage of a Haitian day laborer was one gourde, the equivalent of twenty cents, for a ten-hour day. Even many of the Haitians were deprived of this miserable wage during the illfated attempt by the American government to raise rubber hastily from the cryplostegia plant during the war.

Almost literally lifting his country's economy by its boot straps, President Dumarsais Estime has raised the average daily wage to seventy cents for an eight-hour day. Welcome, although somewhat belated, assistance has recently been given by the Export-Import Bank in a loan of four million dollars at four percent interest to Haiti to develop the fertile Artibonite Valley.

HAITIANS PROUD

Mr. Morrison, according to reports from well-informed persons, took with him to Haiti the racial attitudes of his native Florida. The Haitians are an exceedingly proud and sensitive people who "offer friendship only to those who have shown they merit it", according to a distinguished and unprejudiced American who has long known and loved Haiti. Haitians are proud of having won their own independence when, under the leadership of the brilliant Toussaint L'Ouverture, smashed the pick of Napoleon's armies under General LeClerc early in the nineteenth century and gained their independence from France.

Parenthetically, it was this revolt which crushed Napoleon's dream of a vast empire in the Western World and forced him to sell during Jefferson's administration the Louisiana Territory upon which much of the greatness and wealth of the United States is founded. Ninety percent of the rural population of Haiti own their own land and that number is steadily being increased by the Estime administration which is granting free title to land reclaimed by drainage and irrigation.

A few weeks ago the governments of Haiti and the United States signed an agreement under which the U.S. Air Force will assist in the training of Haitian flyers. Haiti has also retained one of New York's most enterprising public relations and advertising agencies to publicize its resources. This hardly resembles the attitude of anti-Americanism which Morrison charges.

Beginning late in 1949 and extending six months into 1950 Haiti will celebrate the bi-centennial of the founding of Port-au-Prince, Haiti's beautiful capital city.

It is to be hoped that the State Department's justified concern over unrest in the Caribbean and South America will be allayed by an increase of understanding and assistance instead of the vicious distortion of writers like Morrison.

Veterans Top Rental Lists

Veterans and their families must be offered the first chance at renting new houses or apartments, or offered the first chance to buy new houses for sale, according to George H. Blecker, federal rent director of the Mansfield area.

This law, known as the "veterans preference provision" of the Housing and Rent Act of 1948, provides for fines up to $5,000 or a prison sentence of not more than one year, or both, for violation of any part of the law.

New Movie Projector In Operation At School

By FLOYD MILES

Simpson students are enjoying the noonday movies shown with the new 16 mm. movie projector which has been added to the school equipment.

The movie of the week was "Buck Private," starring Bud Abbott and Lou Costello.

Raymond Gerrell, Dorothy Jordan, Winnie Maskey, John Knight, Dorothy Riggleman, Eddie Benning and Marilyn Knarr inspected gift boxes at the Red Cross chapter house Jan. 5 and 11, to see that the boxes were correctly filled for mailing.

Two new students have joined our enrollment. They are Dessie Day, from Shelby, and Marjorie Knell, formerly of Bellville.

Withdrawn from our school are Bertha Albright, Anna Bridges, Charles Davis, Barbara Kotsonos, and Pauline Sloan.

The editorial and business staffs of the Times are planning a dance Feb. 11.

The ninth grade dramatics classes, under the direction of Miss Louise Lynch, are writing a play entitled "Your Manners Are Showing," which will be presented March 2 in a school assembly.

Eighth grade students of Mrs. G. F. Lane's English classes will keep record of their scores of the workbook section in Practical English. The boy and girl who receive the highest quotient in this contest will be given a certificate of merit by the Practical English staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pumphrey are the proud parents of a new son. As a former member of Simpson's faculty, Mrs. Pumphrey taught seventh grade English and spelling.

Home Room 102 has a thermometer that indicates the amount of sales tax stamps collected.

GIVE REVIEWS

Robert Glass's history students will start giving book reports, review unit studying, and finish with a test. Record keeping is being studied by Edwin Cooper's ninth grade business training classes.

Bertha Urey's ninth grade sewing classes plan a style show for next Monday. They will model skirts and blouses, dresses, pajamas and house coats. Their guests will be the ninth grade food classes.

Misses Catherine Darling and Elsie McFadden are Simpson building reporters for the city teachers news publication, "News Letter," which is published once a month.

Gilbert Severson, general science instructor, has been elected to serve for three years as a member of the vestry of Grace Episcopal church.

Eighth grade students of Miss Fae Sotherland's art classes are making monograms to be used on neck scarfs, head scarfs, handkerchiefs, luncheon sets and stationery. Also, monograms cut out of felt, for sweaters and boys' tee shirts. The ninth grade classes are making pencil sketches of what they see out of the school windows. These sketches will be finished in water colors and pencil.

Students in Miss Bess Wickert's geography classes wrote a story on the subject of "Cotton." Miss Wickert had these themes judged by Robert Glass, faculty member, who awarded the prize to Patricia Robinson for the best essay. One hundred and 75 students participated.

The boys in all the grades of Robert Kennedy's gym classes are doing tumbling for three weeks. Ninth grade classes will be playing stick hockey from Jan. 24 to Feb. 4. The seventh and eighth grade classes will be playing kickball.

PRIZES OFFERED

The ninth graders will hold an all-ninth dance Feb. 4.

Prizes will be awarded to the three top rooms in the collection of sale stax stamps for the Red Cross. Home Room 214 is leading with $156.50. Close behind is 105 with $150, and in third place is 211 with $66.

George Johnson, pianist-humorist, exponent of musical fun from "Bach to Boogie," will entertain at the assembly Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. in the auditorium.

Miss Fannie-Lew Eiler's glee clubs have been invited to sing and have dinner at the YWCA.

There have been three new seventh grade boys added to the patrol. They are Billy James Miller, Curtiss Tolliver, and Albert Carter. The patrol boys are getting new badge s, belts, poles, and perhaps raincoats. There will be a meeting with Frend Boals, city traffic commissioner, Monday evening after school. The patrol is glad to welcome Mr. Boals, who has recently returned to the job after being ill.

Seek Missing Mail Pouch— And $80,000

CHICAGO — (INS) — Government postal inspectors are engaged today in an intensive search between Waukesha, Wis., and Chicago, for a mail pouch containing $80,000 in new and mutilated currency.

The pouch, consigned by a Waukesha bank to the Federal Reserve bank in Chicago, presumably was put aboard a Soo Line train Thursday.

But when the train arrived in Chicago postal authorities could find no trace of it.

Elmer J. Holmes, head of the post office depredations unit said it was presumed the pouch was put aboard the train, but added that "whether this was actually done or not is something we are trying to determine."

SUNDAY'S astrological forecast stresses a very exceptional and fertile state of mind and emotions. Under this astral spur the unusual in creative or illuminated plans of conduct might be expected. For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves imbued with unusual and impractical yearnings for expression in unrealistic, aspirational and fantastic channels, in which a stroke of genius may clamor for expression. With stern adherence to the realistic and conventional codes, some subtle or intriguing experience or adventure might prove workable. But keep alert of curious complications, add persons or adventures involving the feelings and emotions.

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, JANUARY 15,1949

Drive carefully tonight and tomorrow—remember those who didn't last week-end.

No new commemorative postage stamp is promised before March—which gives opportunity to use up some of the old ones.

Word comes that a British scientist believes it possible to build a machine "that can think like a human being"—in which case it will be highly important to carefully select the human beings the machine is adapted to "think like."

C. of C. Reflects Progressive City

THE SPECTACLE of two thousand persons attending a community dinner in a vast hall, transformed in one day from a skating rink into a glitteringly lighted banquet room, presents lucid testimony that Mansfield's Chamber of Commerce is a live and smoothly functioning organization.

Marshalling of local talent to provide a program of fun, good music, and entertainment such as was presented last night at the Coliseum indicates the caliber of the community in which the C. of C. has grown to the largest in any city of comparable size in the nation.

Climaxing the evening was the stern warning by Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the Indianapolis Star, that the United States is the last free nation in the world and that our freedom is endangered by federal bureaucracy which promulgates laws without representation of the people.

Remarking pointedly that there is no difference between the "isms" when it comes to trampling out the freedom of a people, Mr. Pulliam congratulated Mansfield on its demonstration of the American spirit and urged that this spirit be fostered.

Interest in Mansfield's 37th annual C. of C. dinner was not confined to the city. It extended to notables from various parts of the state, including out-of-town newsmen who considered the event worthy of coverage.

In sum, the Mansfield chamber is to be congratulated on its program last night and upon the spirit of progressive community development which it seeks to foster.

Municipal Funds Fail to Reach

MANSFIELD'S financial problems seem likely to continue through the year, as even the magnificent total of $1,396,739 in council's appropriation ordinance passed Thursday night falls far short of meeting all requirements.

Just how high the total would go if all requests for pay increases were met, and all municipal needs cared for, is problematical, but council is faced by the stern fact that expenditures must either be kept within available revenues, or revenues increased to the extent of covering higher costs.

Inequality in compensation, based on varying qualifications and responsibilities, can scarcely fail to appear in the set-up of salaries under council's readjustment action. A hint of this appears in announcement of the resignation of Earl T. Garrison as service-safety director after failure of council to advance his salary from $4,000 to $5,200 a year.

Members of the police and fire departments are also naturally displeased over council's cut-back of their pay from the figures directed by majority vote in an initiated ordinance last November.

An "evaluation study" of city jobs has been suggested, with compensation fixed on the basis of responsibilities and duties, but this would seem of little account unless it could also include a listing of what each employe believes that he or she should be paid, as a satisfactory solution of difficult situation otherwise appears impossible.

One thing that needs be taken into account is that public funds are derived entirely from either some form of taxation or charges for service, and that authorization of expenditures in excess of income requires provision for additional revenues.

Motorists Who Block Crosswalks

IT APPEARS that Mansfield isn't the only city in which some motorists block crosswalks when they stop for a red light—Columbus seems to be having the same sort of trouble . . . but down there they're planning to do something about it.

According to the Columbus Dispatch it is the safety director who has announced intention to put a stop to this practice—and also to discourage the habit of swinging cars around corners in disregard of pedestrians who have the right of way.

There is to be no "crack-down," it is explained, but a campaign of education and warning, with arrests reserved for the more flagrant cases.

Thoughtlessness, rather than intended impudence, is probably responsible for a majority of violations of this kind, and it may be that some improvement can be brought about in Mansfield without need for police action.

Russia's Ridiculous Claims

RUSSIAN claims to have been the first to make a discovery or invention have become so commonplace that Americans are only amused by the recent announcement from Moscow that the first airplane was flown by a Russian 21 years before the Wright brothers made their flight at Kitty Hawk.

The Russians, attempting to build up their own historical background, must have overlooked a point which puts reverse English on the claims, in the eyes of Western onlookers.

If the Russians made all these discoveries so long before the rest of the world, isn't it too bad that they weren't able to do anything with them?

Noting that the St. Louis bartenders' union is picketing a place because it employs a bar maid, the Akron Beacon Journal suggests: "Yet it is better to have a woman behind the bar than in front of it."

Harry Wade complains: "It takes 35 years to learn to tie a bow tie—then some Hollywood upstart tells you you're too old."

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Efficiency of Budget System Questioned

THE GREATEST of peacetime budgets has come and, so far as the average citizen is concerned, has gone into the darkness of old news. All that will be remembered are a few high spots—higher taxes, greater spending, and questions about action by Congress.

The entire budget is a colossal document. The President's summary, long as it is, is only a giant thumb-nail sketch, trimmed and edited to put the best possible face on a cloudy situation. There are very few people, even among the expert elite, who will examine the figures at length.

Even in Congress, where the ultimate answer must be made, hard pressed and busy members will do little more than glance at the items with which their own districts or committees are concerned.

We pass this mammoth bulk as a traveler viewing Mount Shasta. We see that it is big, that it has a certain shape, that it is partly hidden by clouds, that at best we see only one side and that its exploration would be interesting if we had the breath and the time.

But our concern with the budget should be more than a matter of casual interest. Its implications are rooted in the vitals of our personal and public life.

It can or should tell us how much we must set aside for taxes, what the nature of those taxes will be, how heavily government will restrain or accelerate prices, how competently our nation is being operated and how wise or foolish was our November decision at the polls.

* * *

Of Concern to Everybody.

THE FEDERAL budget is a far-reaching factor in all our major concerns. But in every essential the document itself and the manner of its making defeat our efforts to keep in clear perspective our obligations, our liabilities and the quality of our public service.

We vote, we pay our taxes and we submit to the controls of government not wholly in the dark, but in a gray mist of meaningless statistics, slogans and prejudices.

The budget is so constructed as to give us no notion of the ultimate cost of many projects under way or beginning this year. There is little or no projection of enterprises which are small now but which will be very large later on.

The military estimates are enigmas wrapped in mystery. To a degree, this may be necessary to safety, but that the mystery is unnecessarily deepened is an obvious fact.

The timing of the budget is unfortunate. It should appear three months later, when the needs and resources for the year beginning July 1st, can be seen more clearly.

The budget director should and could be an officer of great prestige and power. He might, in fact, rank with the British chancellor of the exchequer. But he is and has been for many years merely one of several presidential assistants.

As such, he can do little to restrain aggressive department heads or to resolve the eternal conflicts among departments. Not since Charles G. Dawes in the early Harding regime has a budget director really been big enough to realize the purposes of those who conceived the Budget and Accounting Act of 1921.

All these defects will be noted by the Hoover Commission when its reports appear. But only a powerful public opinion can assure the adoption of corrective measures.

The Nation Today

Past, Present, Future

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — You get a startling view of the deadly struggle with Russia in President Truman's figures.

He gave them, ice-cold, to Congress this week: The cost of paying the government's expenses another year.

He asked for almost $42 billion and more than half of it, about $21 billion, is for national defense and foreign aid.

Lift the edges of those figures, look behind them, and you can see a picture; past, present and future.

Past—

After the war there was an enormous need in this country for everything from new trolley cars to new toasters.

Economists called it the pent-up demand from the war. It was big enough to keep the country prosperous for some years.

In time—if we had nothing else to worry about, such as communism—supply would catch up with demand.

Then would come the very serious problem of leveling off, of trying to keep people employed and the country from sliding into depression.

This leveling off—if there had been nothing else to worry about—might have gotten under way about 1948 and given us a chance to try to get back to normal. But—

The leveling off didn't have a chance to start. Communism had become a threat to all Europe and to us.

So we had to start pouring money, resources, and manpower into national defense and foreign aid.

Our military efforts alone diverted between one million and two-and-a-half million workers from the civilian labor force.

And the bill for national defense and foreign aid for the past year came to about $19 million.

* * *

Artificial "Prosperity."

THAT brings us up to the present—

For the coming year Mr. Truman is asking about 21 billion for national defense and foreign aid. Without that, government costs would be about $21 billion.

The difference there undoubtedly would have meant a big saving in taxes for you. But there's something else:

About 10 per cent of what we produce here is going into national defense or foreign aid.

All this is keeping the country from reaching a natural level, the leveling off period mentioned above.

And that's delaying the answer to the critical question: How will we do when, and if, the leveling starts?

But there is something else: Because of the money, resources and work going into national defense and foreign aid, we're living in a bit of a pumped up prosperity.

And—how long can this keep up? How long can we afford to pour into military power and foreign aid the wealth which otherwise would be used for the benefit of this country at home?

The future—

We may wind up in war with Russia. If we do, the costs will be gigantic. If we won such a war, no one now can predict what kind of shape we ourselves would be in at the end.

We may have to keep up this defense-aid program for years. That would be duck soup for the Russians.

The more they can keep us indefinitely on a jittery edge, with the present kind of huge, artificial spending, the more they can hope we will eventually crack up. They might win then, without war.

But how would it be if Russia backed up tomorrow, or pretended to, and we started to level off?

What would happen to our economy if we were suddenly able to cut down to a dribble our defense spending? Would it mean a business drop? or wide unemployment? or even start a depression?

That raises a sober picture and maybe everything will turn out just dandy, but maybe it won't.

Just remember that the struggle with Russia, even without shooting, is vast, bitter, and with no letup or mercy in sight.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Tuesday, Jan. 15, 1929

Heaviest snowfall in several years blanketed Mansfield and the state, with snow plows brought out here for the first time in two years and a number of accidents reported.

"The Strange Case of Miss Annie Spragg", a new book by Louis Bromfield, was being widely discussed.

Mansfield policyholders in Great American Mutual Indemnity company received checks for 50 per cent of the amount of premiums they had paid as refund in liquidation of company.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Spitler, 310 West Fourth street, left for California to spend remainder of winter.

"Industrial Problems" was subject of talk given at Rotary club meeting by Albert D. Caddell, secretary of Manufacturers club.

Stoddard King, humorist and poet, gave program at First Presbyterian church, sponsored by Federation of Women's clubs.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On January 15, 1932, in Shanghai, a group of Chinese gangsters killed Hideo Minakami, a Buddhist priest from Japan. This event was the first in a series of ourbreaks which resulted, on January 27, in the landing of Japanese marines, and warfare.

Daily Bible Thought

With thee will I establish my covenant.—Ge. 6.18.

Dave Boone Says:

IT'S HARD now to think there was a time in America when government just governed. Nobody expected anything from Washington but a good example of frugality, an Independence Day proclamation, an occasional note to Nicaragua and news that the president wouldn't paint the white house porch this spring because turpentine had gone up.

* * *

Those were the days when all you looked for a president to do was throw out a first baseball; count his change publicly after buying a five-cent cigar and denounce something as being risky to the nation's future.

* * *

There are folks who can remember (so they say) when a budget was so simple it could be understood without a college education and when a pretty good idea of proposed costs of government could be gained even if you weren't a high-ranking scholar in advanced mathematics.

* * *

That was away back before all "Stop, Look and Listen" signs had been abolished at dangerous crossings by our national leaders and when even politicians thought the barrel had a bottom.

As Cerf Tells It

A banker's young son was an inveterate liar, and the family was trying every expedient to reform him.

"Son," the banker proposed one evening, "if you can tell me a lie without a second's thought, I'll give you fifty cents."

"Fifty cents nothing," declared the boy. "You just said a dollar."

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

If the temperature of the human body rises above 107 degrees, even for a short time, death is nearly certain.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Retailers Believe Prices Coming Down

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

MANY of the nation's leading retailers got together this week to sing the blues, but they made sweet music for consumers.

Attending the annual convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association in New York, 6,000 merchants took a close look at the business situation as it is expected to unfold this year. The majority verdict:

Prices are going down—slowly—and retailers will have to work harder for the profit dollar.

There is not likely to be a sharp price break, nor a business recession, but a "general selective downward price revision."

Recent sales have convinced many retailers that the public has the money to buy and is willing to buy—when prices are right. A Nashville, Tenn., merchant reported, for example, that the Monday after Christmas was the biggest day in his history.

Maybe So, Maybe Not.

Said M. J. Greenbaum, president of the Association of Buying Offices of New York: "Merchants are feeling their way along. The consumer is more discriminating. Lower prices have meant increased unit sales, and once volume has reached the profit-making point it will be clear sailing for everybody concerned."

Said the head of one of New York's larger stores: "The problem now is one of maintaining profits. It won't be easy, and we had better start worrying now."

While the majority agree that the cost of living will slide down, several saw a chance that prices might reverse themselves and shoot upward.

That could happen, they said, if the amount of the public's "spendable money" were increased either by more government spending or widespread wage increases. In that case demand again might outweight supply and put sellers back in the saddle.

At Home

Budget Whopper.

This is a time for superlatives. Records are being shattered for production, for wages, for profits, for prices. And the President's budget is fully in tune with the times. It is the largest in peacetime history.

It totals $41,858,000,000, amounting to $282.82 for each man, woman and child, and carries a "plus" to come which may boost the total by a billion more. The "plus" will be an appropriation to be sought later to speed western Europe's rearming. But even as it stands the budget figure amounts to $1,678,000,000 more than this year's.

* * *

Television Moves West.

The swiftness with which television is growing up was dramatized this week in a four network show, sent out over 32 stations from 14 cities.

The show marked the linking by coaxial cable of cities from Mississippi to the Atlantic—New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Boston, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Toledo, Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo.

It will be at least a few years, however, before the network reaches the west coast. The most optimistic forecasts are that an Atlantic-Pacific linkup will not come before 1952.

* * *

Why Men Die Sooner.

Why do women, on average, live longer than men?

Dr. James B. Hamilton of the Long Island College of Medicine, Brooklyn, says the answer may lie in the sex hormones.

Hormones are a driving force on the entire body, not only on the sex impulse, and in males their force is greater than in women. Thus, Dr. Hamilton told the Gerontological Society in New York, man's metabolism rate is higher; his body produces more heat; he uses up more energy; he subjects his system to more wear and tear.

Abroad

Holy Land Crisis.

A quaint old town in the Middle East, with the odd name of Aqaba, moved into the world's uneasy spotlight this week. Around the picturesque little Red Sea port, terminal of an old road used by pious Moslems in their Sinai desert trek to Mecca, swirled forces which one conservative analyst said could explode into another global war.

Aqaba was key point in a new crisis in the Holy Land. This was the background:

The Arab kingdom of Trans-Jordan had been at peace with Israel since December 1. Her influence, it had been expected, would help promote direct peace between Arabs and Jews. Then Israeli advances in the sandy Negev desert, on the way to Aqaba and the Red Sea, caused Trans-Jordan to invoke her treaty with Britain calling for military help if threatened with attack.

Even as armistice talks were scheduled to open at Rhodes this week between Egypt and Israel, the diplomatic air was filled with vituperative charge and countercharge.

* * *

End Nears In China.

The end came closer and closer in China.

There was really little left now of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces. China's communists were reported crushing trapped government armies on the northern roads to Nanking, in fighting which pilots called "the heaviest at any time in China." They battered into the commercial city of Tientsin in the north, besieged Peiping, hacked down Nationalists who almost without hope tried to break the iron vise.

Official sources said, simply, that "Tientsin is gone." Earlier, there had been heavy fighting in the city's eastern and western suburbs, but the Nationalists were unable to match the powerful Red artillery shells hurled inside the city.

Nanking was in panic. Chiang's officials streamed from the capital, taking their archives and equipment with them.

Quotes

Gen. Lucius D. Clay: "Berlin, a city where the population had ample opportunity to observe Soviet methods at close range, has become the worst habitat for communism."

George Lawton, consulting psychologist and specialist in the problems of older people: "(Women) should help their men live longer. They should get up in busses to give men their seats."

In Short

Convicted: On a charge of a conspiracy to possess marijuana, Movie Actor Robert Mitchum in Los Angeles.

Introduced: In Berlin to save fuel, pre-cooked beans requiring only a few minutes heating.

Sought: By Argentine President Juan D. Peron, a bill forcing foreigners who have lived in the country two years either to leave or become Argentine citizens.

Refused: By the Supreme Court, to halt the trial of 12 top Communist officials on charges of conspiring to advocate overthrowing the government.

Washington Calling

Regulations Prove Weak

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE WAY in which the continuing wave of the news close over even a major disaster is well illustrated by the disappearance from the pages of the newspapers of the disaster in Seattle, Wash., that cost 16 lives, 13 of them students from Yale returning to college.

This is, of course, very convenient for the bureaucrats who are supposed to have regulatory responsibility over the airlines. They are grateful for the shortness of public memory which obscures each succeeding tragedy.

The Civil Aeronautics board is still gathering data preparatory to a hearing in Seattle. In time the board will write a long report phrased in government gobbledygook with blame duly parceled out, including a share for the Civil Aeronautics Administration which sets up regulations.

But here, as anyone knows who read the accounts of the disaster, is a case where regulations were plainly inadequate. The pilot of the plane was cleared for a take-off by the control tower even though weather conditions were below the safe minimums. It was apparently "legal" to send 16 young men to their deaths.

This is no regulatory system and an overhaul is long overdue. Nor have recent appointments to air regulatory bodies been such as to inspire confidence.

* * *

Cabinet Post Proposed.

IF THEY follow present intentions, the Hoover Commission to reorganize the government will recommend establishment of a department of transportation. Into that department under a cabinet officer would go all government agencies covering every form of transportation.

This recommendation represents a compromise among various factions urging specific action on air regulation. But for several reasons there is little likelihood that either the administration or the Congress will get behind such a sweeping proposal.

President Truman has already recommended a department of social welfare and that probably will receive congressional approval. It is very doubtful if Congress would add a second cabinet post at the same time.

Such a move would be opposed by most of the transportation interests involved. Both railroads and airlines would feel that their claims would be submerged in a common agency. It appears, therefore, that no change is in prospect.

The answer of the civil aeronautics board is a new regulation that would have the effect of eliminating irregular or non-scheduled airlines. The plane that crashed at Seattle was on charter from a company operating non-scheduled flights.

This, it seems to me, is not enough. Perhaps stricter regulation of non-scheduled flights is essential. Certainly, it would please the airlines. Sen. Owen Brewster, who has been such a kind friend of Pan American Airways, has long planned a move that would practically eliminate non-scheduled competition.

The safety regulations need to be tightened for all lines. Fortunately, there has been no major disaster on scheduled lines in recent months. But it was in June of last year that the crash of a DC-6 in Pennsylvania killed 43 persons.

More investigations and more reports are not the answer to disaster. They are part of the process by which tragedy is conveniently filed and forgotten until the next time the headlines spell out a new accident.

They Made Music

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I OFTEN remember a family who used to live in the mountains where I grew up. Their contentment and well-being was admired and discussed in our neighborhood.

Nobody saw much of them, except on Saturday afternoons when they passed by toward Hollidaysburg, making music as they went. The old spring wagon had three seats, all filled with this family, from grandmother down to the youngest.

Sometimes they had a violin accompaniment, more often an accordion or a mouth harp. But always their voices joined in harmonious song that echoed and reverberated.

The farm they came from was situated far back at the confluence of two mountain ranges. I found it one day, after a long exploration along the ridge, and it seemed welcome indeed to come out of the forested mountain and look down upon such a peaceful well-watered little cove with blue smoke curling up from the chimney, a rooster crowing, horses whinnering near the barn. All the animals seemed well aware of the coming of a stranger, long before I had arrived.

The land was deep and red upon a limestone base. Eels and trout played in the flowing limestone springs every summer day. High crags hemmed in the valley on two sides, and in springtime the mountains were white with laurel and rhododendron. Yellow spice flowers scented the atmosphere. Birds and bees were a natural part of this paradise that seemed to bring outstanding peace and happiness to bless this rural home.

They bought no entertainment. They made their own—far off from neighbors. When snow was deep and bobsled riding was at its best, sometimes a crowd would take along their own refreshments, and head for this distant home. Here we would always find a warm welcome and a chance to share in musical enjoyment—a neighborly "sing" followed by hearty food, and then the long ride home over picturesque winding back roads.

Looking backward, I remember no discordant note in this scheme of living. The mountains, the springs, the country sights and odors must have entered into the lives of all of us who grew up among such surroundings.

For my part, I should like to say that there is still contentment and well-being in the very recollection of those backwoods folks singing their way into town—and home again!

Doctor Knows People Inside Out; He Usually Sees 'Em That Way!

NEW YORK—(AP)—One man who ought to know the human body inside out is John Frederic Erdmann.

That's the way he usually sees it. In the last 62 years Dr. Erdmann has repaired the interior plumbing of more than 20,000 people.

Sprightly at 85, the bald, blue-eyed little doctor is a kind of living legend in medical circles. His life has paralleled the growth of modern abdominal surgery. He himself has been a great teacher as well as a famous surgeon.

Yet after 20,000 exploring trips inside Mr. and Mrs. America, Dr. Erdmann still picks up his scalpel with a fresh sense of adventure.

"Every operation looks different to you before you've finished it," he said.

His former pupils tell many tales of Dr. Erdmann's exploits. One concerns a young girl he was operating on for a throat cyst. As was customary in those days the operation was performed in the patient's home.

The anesthetic unexpectedly affected the girl's heart. It stopped beating. Quickly Erdmann gave her artificial respiration. The heart began again, and the surgeon completed his work.

Decades passed. One day Dr. Erdmann was preparing a middle-aged woman patient for an operation. She smiled up at him and said:

"Don't you remember me, doctor? You killed me forty years ago."

It was the small girl—grown up. Erdmann laughed and brought her through the second operation successfully.

But the patient Dr. Erdmann remembers most is President Grover Cleveland. He assisted in a dramatic operation on Cleveland for cancer of the jaw in 1893. The nation was in tumult over the free coinage of silver issue, and to avoid alarm the operation was secretly performed aboard a yacht at sea.

Most of the president's upper jaw was removed. A hard rubber artificial jaw was substituted—and neither Congress nor the public learned of the surgery.

Erdmann recalls that when Cleveland first began to come out of the anesthetic, he turned to him and asked who he was and where he came from. When he said he was from Chillicothe, the president replied:

"Know anybody there named Nipgen? And does he need any political position?"

"Why no," said Erdmann. "John Nipgen runs a drugstore there."

"That's all—thank you, young man," said Cleveland.

Erdmann still marvels at the president's phenomenal memory, under such circumstances.

"The abdomen has been my great reach," he said. "And I still like to work. I guess that's my trouble. I've devoted myself so much to human anatomy I haven't had time for any hobby—except a little fishing."

Funny thing about fishing. You never know for sure what's beneath the surface.

Air Guard Building Plans Ready

U. S. Approval to Be Sought By Jan. 31

Brig. Gen. E. H. Zistel told the Chamber of Commerce banquet audience last night plans for the first phase of the construction program by the Air Guard at the Mansfield airport have been completed and will be submitted to Washington for final approval by Jan. 31.

Zistel is commanding officer of the 55th Wing of the Air National guard. Mansfield 164th Fighter squadron at the airport is a part of that wing. Zistel's command covers the states of Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana and part of Michigan.

He said the project calls for expenditure of $824,000 and includes hangars, a warehouse, utility systems and roads.

Zistel said the second phase will follow through as soon as possible and calls for an administration building, parking spaces for automobiles, underground gasoline tanks for servicing aircraft at an approximate cost of $586,000.

He said he hoped aircraft for the squadron could be brought up to strength in a few months.

"I've never been in a city that has showed so much civic spirit. I say that because of the excellent support you gave us in activating the 164th Fighter Squadron here last spring," the general said.

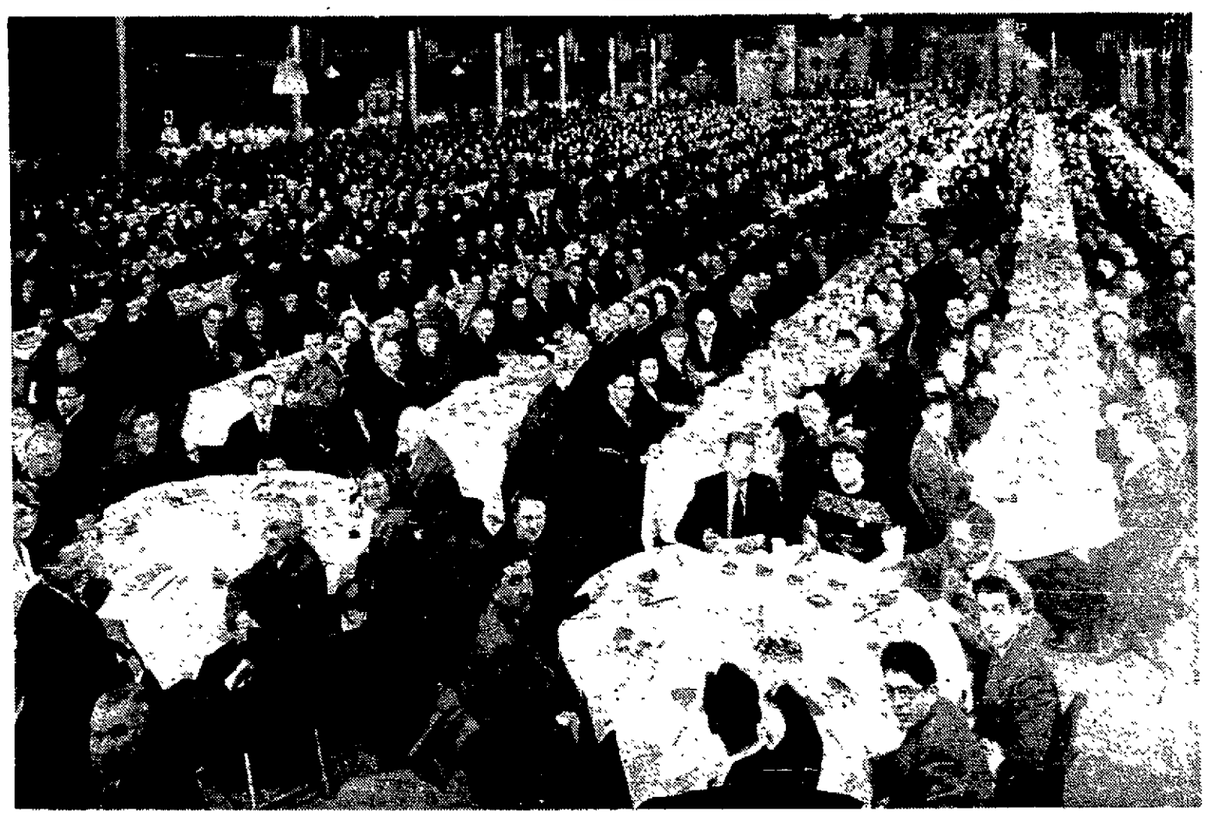
Mosley is a veteran of World War II and was awarded the Purple Heart and Silver Star. He is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school.

Patrol Still Seeking Driver

State Highway Patrol officers reported today they have been unable to establish the identity of the driver of the "blue Ford" which Thursday injured fatally Harry E. Crooks on the Ashland road. The victim died later in the day of injuries suffered in the accident.

Some of the witnesses of the accident still are to be contacted. It is hoped their information will shed additional light upon the case, patrolmen said.



RECORD CROWD—Here is a bird's eye view of the Mansfielders who dined at the Coliseum last night at the Chamber of Commerce's 37th annual dinner. The largest of its kind in the country, the annual dinner was attended by more than 2,000 who took their seats at long tables on the skating rink floor, transformed for the occasion into a dining hall.

Misses Goal By Minute

Hayes Serves Big Crowd Speedily

Bob Hayes set a goal for himself last night at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner and failed by only one minute.

It took Hayes and his corps of 110 assistants just 27 minutes flat to serve the more than 2,000 persons who crowded the Coliseum. Hayes had hoped to do it in 26 minutes.

Although serving started a little late because the guest speaker, Eugene C. Pulliam failed to arrive on time, it went along at the pace set as a precedent by Hayes and his assistants at the first banquet three years ago.

Around the outer rim of the Coliseum were nine food "stations," each with its quota of big electric roasters and food containers. From the moment that Hayes gave the signal to the time the last man was served, food was placed on the tables with trained precision.

Tender, juicy beef, smothered in mushroom sauce, was served with succotash and candied sweet potatoes.

On the table when the guests sat down were small containers of Waldorf salad and pumpkin pie, together with a big dish of relishes. Steaming coffee and rolls accompanied the meal.

It was a long day for some of the waitresses. One of them said she had been "on her feet" since 4:30 a. m. working at the Westinghouse, then out to the Coliseum to help in serving.

Hayes and Kenneth Strock, co-chairmen, and their committee served a ton of meat, fish and vegetables. The food included 915 pounds of rolled rib roast of prime beef and an additional 100 pounds of fresh Lake Erie blue pike.

One hundred pounds of mushrooms were added to the gravy and 1,000 pounds of sweet potatoes were cooked and candied.

It was the "biggest" meal that Hayes, in his long career as a caterer, had ever served.

Rural Life Center Needs $10,000 More

It is expected that $10,000 will be needed to complete the Rural Life Center now under construction in Weller township, Thomas Sheppard, temporary president, said today.

The estimate was made by the ways and means committee. Harry Stroup is chairman of the committee.

Original cost of the rural project was estimated at $40,000, but that figure has been pared some since last year. Funds so far have been provided in contributions by county residents and farm organizations.

Plans are now being considered for the remodeling of the old barn at the site into a dining room and recreation hall. This figure of $10,000 will include the remodeling and purchase of equipment to make the barn usable as a Center building.

Stroup said funds will be needed for kitchen equipment, bunks, rental or purchase of tents to house 4-H campers, dishes, a stove, tables, and chairs.

HOUSING PLANS SET

It was estimated that in addition to the tents for boy campers, the old Reding house on the property will provide housing for 24 girls and the buggy shop and summer kitchen an additional 12 each. Plans call for razing the old woodshed and construction of a small building that will house at least a dozen more campers.

These plans will be presented at the annual meeting of the Rural Life Center Monday night, when a permanent board of directors and officers will be elected.

This meeting, Sheppard said, is open to every rural resident in the county.

The meeting will be held in the Common Pleas courtroom at the courthouse.

The body of Willard Day Clay, 52, of Lexington, Ky., who died early yesterday in Mansfield, was returned to Kentucky for burial last night.

He died in the home of Charles Owens, rear 278 North Main street. Dr. D. C. Lavender, coroner, said death was caused by a heart attack.

According to Owens, Mr. Clay, whom he knew only as "Slim," came to his house shortly after midnight Friday and asked to stay there.

He sat on a day bed in the back room, near the stove, Owens told police. About 1:30 a.m., Owens said, Clay fell over, but when he went to assist him, Clay said:

"Leave me lay, don't bother me."

Owens said he left him, and found nothing strange until morning. Mr. Clay was identified by Lt. Major R. L. Gutterman of the Volunteers of America, where Mr. Clay had been staying.

Born Oct. 25, 1896, in Menifee county, Kentucky, Mr. Clay was a veteran of World War I. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Hazel Williams and Mrs. Madge McCartney, both of Middletown.

The body was taken to Stanton, Ky. for burial.

Robert Black, Rudolf Laubscher, Bruce Bushnell, Thomas Young and Robert Richards prepared the last of the 700 collection boxes for distribution. NAVY AHEAD—

The Navy beat the Army last night. Harry B. Soulen, who presided at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner, said a coin had been flipped to see whether the Army or Navy would speak first. The Navy won. So, Capt. F. L. Riddle, assistant chief of staff for the Ninth Naval district, was the first military man to speak. Later, when Brig. Gen. E. H. Zistel began his talk he said, with a smile, "The Navy beat us to it again."

WELL COVERED—

The big Chamber of Commerce dinner last night was well covered by newspapermen. They came from all over the northern half of the state. The News-Journal had seven staff members on the job. Covering the banquet for the Cleveland Plain Dealer was Peter Greenough. He has been in Mansfield on several assignments, including the Niebel slayings and the Daniels trial. Newspapermen who came down to see how the Chamber of Commerce here puts on its big annual event were Johnny Jones, Columbus Dispatch columnist, and Paul Schrader, managing editor of the Toledo Blade. Schrader said his newspaper would cover the event next year. The head of the Brush-Moore newspapers, Roy Moore, of Canton, said the entertainment first reminded him of "Hellzapoppin'," but later it turned out to be "Oklahoma."

Epidemic Blamed On Supply

Third of Village Residents Ill

LOUDONVILLE — State health department officials today were checking on the Loudonville water supply which was blamed for a gastro-intestinal infection which afflicted 1,000 persons here during the past week. No fatalities were reported.

The state entered the investigation after a state sanitary engineer learned the village's water supply chlorinator had broken down. The water supply comes from deep wells, one of which is "fairly close" to a sewer line, Dr. C. B. Meuser, Ashland county health commissioner, said.

Dr. Meuser was notified of the widespread illness by Supt. R. F. McMullen of Loudonville schools who said 225 pupils were out of school one day. The village has a population of about 2500.

MAKES REPAIRS

The health department supervised installation of a hand chlorination method. It was in use until the mechanical chlorator was repaired. Dr. Meuser said no new cases were reported after Wednesday and tests revealed no sign of typhoid germs in the water.

Estimates of the number ill ranged to 600. Most Loudonville residents thought the victims were suffering from a form of 'flu since a number of similar cases have been reported in other sections of the state.

Victims were afflicted with nausea, vomiting and diarrhea. The bacteria that contaminated the water has not been identified but a report from the state laboratories on its type and origin was expected today or "Monday at the latest."

Richardson Rites Monday

Services for William Donald Richardson, 32, who died of a fractured skull in a truck accident near Wellsville Friday, will be held Monday at 3 p. m. from the Finefrock funeral home with burial in the Mansfield cemetery. Rev. A. F. Lindbeck, pastor of the Mayflower Congregational church, will officiate.

Mr. Richardson is survived by two brothers, John of 502 Lida street, with whom he made his home, and Major R. Richardson with the U. S. Army of Occupation in Japan, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Latch Rensselaer, N. Y.

Born in Cherokee county, Kansas, Nov. 13, 1916, Mr. Richardson had made his home in Mansfield for the past 12 years. He had worked for the Glen Cartage company of Girard for only three weeks, and was riding home from Wellsville with Robert Hickman, truck driver, when the truck went out of control on a steep hill near Wellsville and overturned into a ditch.

Both Hickman and Mr. Richardson were trapped in the cab of the truck and were extricated only after more than an hour's work. Hickman was taken to Ea Liverpool City hospital.

America Tags Arms Export With 'For Allies Only' Labels

New Ban Directed At Sweden

Scandinavians Slate Meeting

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Officials expressed hope today that a new "allies only" label on American arms will coax Sweden off the neutrality fence in the cold war against Russia.

State department press officer Michael McDermott told a news conference yesterday that the United States cannot spare military equipment for nations unwilling to enter a defense alliance against communist expansion.

Officials said that was aimed straight at Sweden, where press reports have taken the opposite tack. Sweden has suggested that her northern neighbors cold-shoulder western alliance bids and join her instead in a policy of strict neutrality.

The state department followed up McDermott's statement with an announcement that last summer Sweden received 30 P-51 fighter planes which are no longer in operating condition but which can be used to replace parts in planes the Swedes already own.

Stockholm reports said earlier this week that Sweden had urged Norway and Denmark to spurn the projected North Atlantic military alliance for an iron-clad Scandinavian military pact. In any case, Sweden indicated, she would remain aloof from the treaty being negotiated by the United States, Canada and five European nations.

Several ways of linking Scandinavia with the Atlantic treaty have been considered by western authorities — including a possible separate organization, with one member also signing the North Atlantic pact.

If Sweden's latest stand apparently would bar any such arrangement.

Foreign affairs experts of all three northern governments — Sweden, Norway and Denmark — are due to meet within the next week, according to dispatches from London, for what may be the decisive discussion of their future moves.

Formosans Prefer Freedom Instead of Chinese Rule

TAIPEI, Formosa, —(AP)— The Formosans, who may be hosts to China's government should it be forced from Nanking, prefer freedom to Chinese rule.

That is the view of Formosan revolutionaries with whom I have talked. They don't consider themselves Chinese but a separate race.

Ever since the Chinese took over Formosa after the Japanese were driven out in 1945 they have been telling the Formosans they are Chinese.

Not so, reply the revolutionaries. They say Formosans are a separate race compounded of aboriginal tribes and their parade of conquerors—Dutch, Spanish, Portuguese and Chinese.

There are 6,000,000 of these Formosans, or Taiwanese as they call themselves, on this strategic island off the communist-threatened Chinese mainland.

The revolutionaries say Chinese monopolies are no better than the Japanese.

"Often they are worse because less efficient," one revolutionary says.

His group advocates freedom from Chinese rule, but admits there is no practical way to achieve it now.

Failing that, he is plugging for a United Nations trusteeship to be administered by the United States. The eagerness with which Taiwanese are studying English indicates the idea is not unpopular.

There are about 10 revolutionary groups, which exist mostly on paper.

There are some pro-Japanese elements in Formosa. There are, for instance, about 10,000 young Taiwanese who were trained in the Japanese army. Like all Taiwanese, they are unarmed.

Communist influences are beginning to penetrate the island. The party line is not yet clearly established, but it is likely to advocate independence.

A young Taiwanese engineer, who works for an official Chinese monopoly, sums up the view of many Taiwanese thus:

"We welcomed Gov. Gen. Chen Yi in 1945 as a liberator, but by 1947 the oppressive corruption of his officials led to the bloody incident when thousands of our people in protesting were mowed down by his machineguns.

"Our living standard is lower than under the Japanese and despite all the mainlanders' talk about blood brotherhood we find they get all the good jobs.

"Now we are getting another military governor (Gen. Chen Cheng) and we are not optimistic about the future, especially if he is coming to prepare a refuge for the Nanking government to move in and feed off us.

"We don't know what to do or where we are going—if anywhere."

PEDESTRIAN KILLED

SPRINGFIELD — (AP)—Konstantin Wloshinski, 76, was killed last night when struck by an automobile in front of his home.

Milk Ruling Under Fire

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Federal Judge Mel G. Underwood had under consideration today charges that the national government was attempting to regulate intrastate commerce in Ohio through "the Columbus milk order."

Milk handlers in Ohio's capital city claimed yesterday that local milk distribution was a "situaton over which the federal government has no control."

The so-called "milk order," which went into effect in February of 1946, placed regulations on shipments and prices of milk received and inspected by the city of Columbus and supplied by 15 central Ohio counties.

Vengeance-Seeking Ex-Convict Sighted

OKLAHOMA CITY —(UP)— A berserk ex-convict who swore he would kill everyone who helped convict him for bank robbery, was sought today at Hardmore, Okla., home of the chief witness against him.

The vengeance-seeking convict, Roy Frank Godbey, 53, was recognized in the Ardmore bus station by an old acquaintance who told authorities that he spoke to the bank robber for several minutes.

Wallace Campbell Leaves Maxwalton To Manage Experimental Kentucky Farm

Wallace V. Campbell, who for the past 21 years has been part owner and manager of the Maxwalton farm on the Lucas road, leaves Tuesday for Frankfort, Ky., where he will manage the Brown-Forman Experimental farm.

The experimental farm now comprises 450 acres in the bluegrass region of Kentucky. Construction is now under way on a $50,000 barn, which will be the first of a group of modern farm buildings. The present purebred Scotch Shorthorn herd of 30 cows and three champion bulls will be increased to make it the finest in this section of the country. Part of the construction program will include a new home for Campbell and his family.

The Shorthorn herd at the experimental farm will be sired by Sniabar - Randolph, winner of the 1947 show circuit. According to present plans, the Brown-Forman farm will be made a show place with the most modern equipment and methods. Scientific feeding tests will be conducted and visitors will have the chance to see the results of Kentucky climate and soil on livestock breeding, Campbell said.

During his 21 years in Mansfield Campbell has aided in building up one of the finest Scotch Shorthorn herds in the country on the Maxwalton farm. Its cattle have taken prizes all over the United States and Canada. At the final sale of cattle, a prize bull was sold for $6,000 and a cow for $3,200.

Maxwalton farm was originally purchased by George Carpenter, a Mansfield lawyer and the father of the late Reid Carpenter, who carried on his father's ambitions. The farm today contains about 600 acres. The building lay-out includes five residences, in one of which the Campbells live, and seven barns. The farm will be sold, Campbell said, but although there have been several persons interested in making inquiries, no deal has gone through.

"The Shorthorn World," in telling about the sale at Maxwalton says, "One of the great chapters in Shorthorn history came to a close when the internationally known Maxwalton herd was dispersed. Like the previous Maxwalton dispersion 25 years ago when the Carpenter and Ross firm was dissolved, the event attracted nation-wide attention and buyers almost climbed over one another to procure the animals that formed the backbone of the institution."

Campbell is returning to his native state in his new position. He was graduated from the University of Kentucky and was reared in an atmosphere of purebred live-stock under the early training of Ben Allen Thomas, owner of the Chenoweth farms.

Next Tuesday when he leaves for Frankfurt, Campbell will be accompanied by Mrs. Campbell and their son Wallace jr., a veteran of World War II. Their daughter, Emily, is now a student at Christian college at Columbia, Mo.

Pulliam Raps Socialism As Form of Dictatorship

the tragic failure of totalitarian governments, Pulliam said.

"Russia is run by a machine-gun. You can lump all the isms together including the socialism of England. They all have failed the people," he declared.

The fourth fact, Pulliam said, was that America "is the last and only free country in the world today." He said that even Canada is beginning to feel the impact of national socialism and the people there are "beginning to relinquish their freedoms."

REDS LACK BOMB

Pulliam said Russia doesn't want war because she doesn't have the production for war. "But," he added, "that doesn't mean they don't want to destroy America."

Here he said: "In spite of all you hear they don't have the atomic bomb."

He charged that Russia was "never our friend, even during the war," adding "they are determined to wipe out constitutional government. He charged that the Russians placed their men in Resistance movements in European countries one and one-half years before the war ended and were able to take over the Eastern European countries, without holding free elections.

Pulliam declares the people of eastern Europe don't want Communism. The communists almost got control of France, he said, "but they didn't quite make it. They haven't won an election since." He said the same thing happened in Italy. He said that only about 10 per cent of the Greek men are engaged in the civil war and that the others have been sent in from Albania and Bulgaria.

He charged that Communist activity in Arabia and Armenia is meant to stir up trouble for the United States and asserted that the Russians are shipping arms to both the Jews and the Arabs.

Italian Communist chief Togliatti told him, Pulliam said, "we don't want war with you; we can get you without war."

CAUSE OF BLOCKADE

The Berlin blockade has been caused for two reasons, the speaker declared.

"When the war ended, the people in the eastern European countries thought freedom had come home," Pulliam said. "But next day they found out they were under the iron hand of communism." Many of the nationals of those countries are in displaced persons camps in western allied zone in Germany. He said a reason for the blockade was the fact that the western allies refuse to return those persons as the Russians have demanded.

The second reason is that Russians have been refused their demand to run the printing press—to control currency.

Except for those two things there would be no blockade, the publisher said.

He said he found one encouraging thing in Europe. On walls and box cars the little people of Europe were writing "Hammer and Sickle equals Swastika," he said.

"The little people have no other means of expression. They know what the hammer and sickle means and they're expressing their protest," the speaker said.

SOCIALISM FAILS

In lumping Communism and Socialism together, Pulliam said that the English economy has been ruined.

"When you have socialism you must have regimentation and decreased production. It never fails. What have the people of England got? They're suffering as they haven't suffered in centuries due to regimentation and taxes, taxes, taxes."

He charged that Cripps in England was the same kind of dictator as Stalin.

"England has lost all freedoms except the right to protest. You can't have Nazism or Socialism without a dictator. And when you have dictatorship, you have war. Socialism breeds dictatorship and the price of dictatorship is always war," he declared.

Pulliam said he knew there were things wrong in the United States. "We have too much monopoly. We have too much government by pressure groups.

"But if it's so bad why are the countries of Europe looking to us to save them?" he asked. He said they want us to save them "from the folly of their own governments."

He charged too that there were too many rules set up by governmental commissions, "which we must stop." He said the three branches of government must be kept independent.

Other speakers on the program included Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, Glen L. Bierly, president of the Manufacturer's club, H. C. Atkinson, executive vice-president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Capt. F. L. Riddle, of the Ninth Naval district, Brigadier General E. H. Zistel; commanding general of the 55th wing of the Air National guard, which includes the Mansfield unit; Roy D. Moore, head of Brush-Moore newspapers, and C. L. VanDereau, general chairman of arrangements, Dean W. Dickerson, the new president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Millard H. Pryor, retiring president of the Manufacturer's Club.

Among those at the table were Navy Capt. J. C. Gebhard, Maj. General Leo H. Kreber, the new adjutant general of Ohio, and Brig. Gen. Kenneth Cooper, new assistant adjutant general.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Louis Bromfield sent telegrams of regret at their not being able to attend.

Harry B. Soulen, retiring president of the chamber of commerce, presided. He complimented Paul M. Eliot, president of the Farmer's bank for his handling of the banquet finance, and John G. Routzon, secretary manager of the chamber, for his work throughout the year.

bershop Quartet Singing in America.

Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch was interlocutor.

The first number of the minstrels was "After Dark," sung by a male chorus. It was followed by a song and tap dance by Dick Zimmerman, son of an old minstrel man, Roy Zimmerman. A tenor quartet, Ralph Hughes, A. W. VanAuker, Maurice Stretch and John Whitcomb, sang "Four Leaf Clover" and were encored for that old favorite, "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie."

An innovation last night that took the acts right out into the audience and made them a part of the general hilarity, was the run-way down the middle of the Coliseum. There was a clatter of noise in the rear and as everyone cran[illegible] Eddie Fisher and Roy Zimmerman, both famous as old minstrel men, as they came prancing up the run-way and onto the stage where Fisher gave a solo and dance, "Susie."

Accompanying the "Capers" last night were Mrs. John Whitcomb and Attorney Mark Creedman.

Fisher was followed by Lois Schnitzer, who did some expert baton twirling and acrobatic dancing. The popular song, "Buttons and Bows" was sung and acted by a sextet of pretty young girls, directed by Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine. They were Charlotte Boyd, Katherine Beatty, RoAnne Farry, Mona Hammett, Carol Bullock and Marilyn Schuler. They were costumed as pinafore girls and they too danced up the run-way with cute gestures to sing their song to the farthermost part of the big Coliseum.

End men, Roy Zimmerman, Dick Stafford, Ralph Carver and Dick Zimmerman gave a specialty dance and the entire chorus concluded the minstrel act with "Goodbye, My Coney Island Baby."

Mrs. Joy Herbert played on the harp the "Sextet from Lucia," then played, with Mrs. F. P. Walter, violinist, "Mazurka," by Schuecker. Their numbers were among the best of the musical part of the show.

DO BUBBLE DANCE

The "Mystery Bubble" act was the most hilarious and the one which more than any other sent the 2,000 Mansfielders into roars of laughter.

The cast was made up of 13 Mansfield businessmen and their director, John Grabler, costumed as "light and lithesome" ballet dancers with brief and frilly skirts and in some instances even briefer blouses.

The 13 included: Elmer Hedeen, A. C. Butterfield, Richard Wolford, J. G. Blahnik, Homer King, C. J. Solomon, William G. Schultz, J. O. Hanley, William J. Locke, Paul M. Eliot, Mayor Roy Vaughn, Burns M. Kattenberg and Robert Welsh. While Grabler sang, "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," the 13 pranced across the stage in what was meant to be ballet steps, down the run-way to the rear of the Coliseum and back again, casting their huge balloons among the audience, where many of them burst with a resounding bang.

The final number on the entertainment part of the program was given by the Mansfield Choral Society, members of which seemed in exceptionally good voice last night.

Led by J. Frederick Wolf, they sang "Marching On," an old Welsh melody, the lovely "Vilja," by Franz Legar, "Steal Away," a spiritual, the quick and amusing "Comin' Through the Rye," and the final harmonious and rousing, "America, the Beautiful." It was a fitting climax to an hour's entertaining series of "homespun" acts.

Asks Change In Channel

Empire Steel Files Petition With County

The Empire Steel corporation has petitioned county commissioners for permission to change the channel of the Rocky Ford creek on its property northwest of the plant.

Under the company's proposal the channel, which now goes from the Bowman street bridge in a southeasterly direction to the reservoir would be diverted.

The new channel would go east from the bridge to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and parallel the tracks to the reservoir. A small new tributary would parallel Bowman street northwestward to the new channel.

The company would pay for the expenses of the channel change. Company officials said the proposal would improve the acreage, give better drainage, and provide space for slag pile and scrap.

Commissioners set Jan. 28 at 10 a. m. for a view of the proposed improvement and Feb 4, for the first hearing on the petition.

WE WISH to express our appreciation to our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our sad bereavement of our Father Anton Gross, to the Wappner Funeral Home for their efficient and kindly services, to Fr. Marman for his comforting sermon, also to those who rendered use of their cars, to the senders of all the beautiful flowers. We wish to express our sincere thanks.

Mrs. Clyde Terry.

ELIZA ANN MARSHALL appreciates and thanks her landlady, neighbors and friends for their gifts, letters and flowers, during her recent illness.

3—In Memoriam

IN MEMORY of our darling daughter, Ruth Marie Sowash, who passed away seven years ago today.
It was beauty she saw that morning.
In her there must have been cheer,
Never thinking of life's ending,
Or that the death reaper was near.
Then suddenly there came the summons,
From the Father who reigned on high.
And out of this life she was taken.
Without a farewell or goodbye.
Sadly missed by parents, brother and sisters.
Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sowash and Family.

IN MEMORY to my mother, Mrs. Martha Mcquire Blank, passed away Jan. 15, 1928. Dear little wonderful mother of mine, you are a treasure no words could we find. My sorrows you lessened, my tears you would calm. Your comforting presence was heavenly gone. God gave me the sunshine and skies of deep blue, but most precious of gifts, dear. He gave me you. Lady of beauty with silvery hair and tender blue eyes far beyond all compare. A sweet gentle touch, a delicate brace, and enshrined in my memory is your saintly face. Thank you dear mother for love selfless and kind, and thanks again mother for having been mine. Your Daughter, Mrs. Filbert Hammett.

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — At least three groups were in the race today to buy the Philadelphia Eagles, 1948 champions of the national professional football league.

Ed Chelski's 17 Counters Tops Teams

By CHARLEY STINE

Sophomore Ed Chelski went on the biggest scoring spree of any Madison player this season as he led the Rams to a 40-31 victory over Loudonville last at Madison high gym.

The husky guard bagged 17 points and made the show even more impressive as he scored the first seven field goals from no less than 25 feet out.

His scoring outburst came at an opportune time for the other Rams did not wear their shooting clothes. The spark of Center Joe Distl was missed although Russell Glenn did a good job of filling in.

NOT IN UNIFORM

Distl was not in uniform as Coach Blaine Dowler elected to give the player's injured back more rest for the tough schedule coming up next week. Madison goes to Fredericktown Tuesday and Kenton Friday.

Madison now has won three straight games and six out of eight for the season.

Loudonville presented a scrappy ball club but simply could not make the shots fall. Time and again they laid up short shots only to have them roll out.

Madison led all the way without so much as being tied. Dutch Bader and Ed Chelski both scored with one-handers from the corner in the first minutes of play to start things off. Gerald Cowen scored twice for Loudonville from the free throw lane but Chelski cut loose from the center of the floor to make the score 6-4. Jim Brightbill added a field goal. Cowen made a basket and Bill Porter increased the lead to 18-10 at half-time.

MAKES A BID

Immediately after the intermission, Loudonville made its bid. Little Bill Foster connected from far down the court, Carl Young scored from up close and Glenn Reynolds dropped a charity toss to bring the score to 18-15, the closest the Red Birds ever came.

Madison then went to work and tallied ten straight points before Dowler sent his entire second team into the game. The Birds outscored them 8 to 1 but with the count 29-23 the regulars came back and soon put things on ice.

The Ram reserves, losers of their first five games, won their third straight in easy fashion, 26 17. Kenny Woerth, who is fast developing into a polished pivot man, led the scoring with ten points.

Buck Tankers Open Schedule

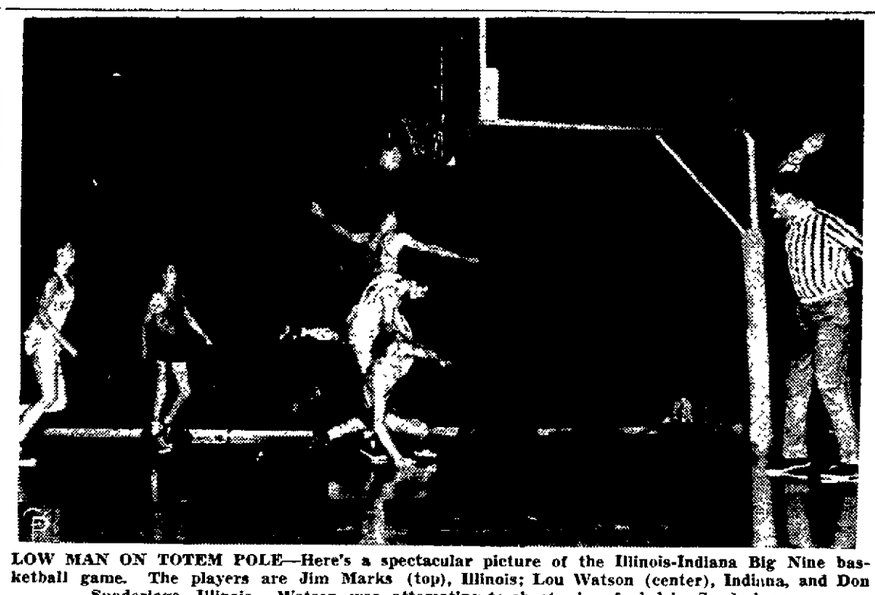
COLUMBUS—(UP)—Ohio State's swimming squad, AAU indoor champions, opened their 1949 season in the Ohio natatorium today against Wisconsin.

Coach Mike Peppe reported his squad in good shape with strokers Bill Smith, Halo Hirose and Bob De Groot and Diver Bruce Harlan back in harness.

The Buckeye wrestling squad, meanwhile, played host to Bowling Green State university matmen. The Ohio State fencing team traveled to Oberlin college to open its season.

Dick to Sign

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(UP)—Dick Rifenburg, the University of Michigan's All-America end, said today he would sign a "very satisfactory" contract within a few days to play professional football next season for the All-America conference New York Yankees.



LOW MAN ON TOTEM POLE—Here's a spectacular picture of the Illinois-Indiana Big Nine basketball game. The players are Jim Marks (top), Illinois; Lou Watson (center), Indiana, and Don Sunderlage, Illinois. Watson was attempting to shoot when fouled by Sunderlage.

Bernat and Grable Wax Hot In Moose Pin Loop

The high-scoring bee which has been biting the smaller leagues all week struck the Moose loop last night as two brilliant bowling jobs were turned in.

John Bernat and Orlie Grable were the fair-haired keglers as they posted series totals of 667 and 656. Bernat was the most consistent as he fired scores of 231, 211, and 225. Grable had the best single game, 232, then rolled 228 and 196.

Two other Moose leaguers, Bud McKee and Art Hilborn, wrote their names on the honor roll. McKee led off with only 150, then jumped to 221 and 237 for a 608 series. Hilborn had 159-234-210—603.

Hady Young was not far off the pace with 595 while Fred Carver posted 594, T. Miller, 578; Chuck Altman, 566, and O. Tracht, 565.

★

Evelyn Marshman continued to push the men for honors as she led women bowlers in the city for the second night in a row. Rolling anchor for Gay Nineties in the Women's Commercial league, she opened with games of 201 and 203 then dropped to 180 for a 584 series.

Thursday she topped the Women's A league with a 553 score.

Second place went to Helen Wilhelm of Urschel Insurance with a 535 series. Thelma Cox, Ingram-Martin, had 496, and Hazel Hilborn, and Kate Mansfield of All State Freight, 489 and 474.

★

Pratt led the Westinghouse D league with 559 while H. Dowds was runnerup with 548. Cheney turned in 527 and P. Brown, 512.

★

Leadership of the Independent league was a two way affair with Paul Isch and John Speck sharing honors with scores of 533. The second spot was the same situation with 513 being the total of both Dick Noblet and Gene Yarman.

★

Only one man, H. F. Frontz, registered 500 in the Tappan Stove second shift league. He had a 202 single game and a 540 series. Runner-up was Foy Tuttle, 460.

Marietta Five Wins Game In 5 Overtimes

MARIETTA — (UP) — The game was over and the players were on the way home but worried officials today were still not certain who won last night's wild and wooly basketball contest between Marietta college and Capital university.

At the end of the game and five overtime periods, officials added up the running tallies and gave Marietta a victory over Capital by a score of 100 to 99. The score keepers, however, could find only 99 points among the individual tallies of the Marietta players.

AGREE WITH ACCOUNT

Referees Tom Vernia and Don Hair of Chillicothe said they agreed with the running account and listed the game a Marrietta victory.

Capital university coach Bill Bernlohr said he counted it a 99-99 tie but the there had been no talk of rescheduling the game.

The regular time period ended with the game tied at 64-all. At the end of the first overtime it was 72-72; in the second, 82-82; in the third, 90-90; and the fourth, 95-95.

Giant Center Gets 31 But Team Loses

BUCYRUS—Willard's giant center, Jim Nowak, dunked in 31 points here last night but fouled out early in the fourth quarter and Bucyrus won the basketball game, 70-52.

It was the seventh victory in eight games for Bucyrus. The Redmen led by only 44-38 at the end of the third period but ran away with the game after Nowak bowed out. The six-foot-seven center had scored 20 of Willard's first 24 points.

Bucyrus won the reserve game 46-23.

Shelby Cagers Nip Crestline Team, 34-30

By JOHN PATRICK

SHELBY — Coach Chuck Williams' Shelby basketeers squeezed past an obstinate Crestline quintet 34 to 30 in a non-league game on the Shelby high-floor last night.

The frenzied crowd witnessed a game in which neither team managed to get more than four points ahead.

Once again Dick Utz and Stan Cronenwett teamed up to hold down the scoring power of a tall center. They held John Johnson, Crestline's six foot, six inch-center, to 10 points.

Shelbi led at the half time 19 to 16. However, the Bulldogs snarled back to tie up up the ball game 22 to 22 at the end of the third quarter and then proceeded to go out in front 29 to 27 with three minutes to play.

TIES UP GAME

On the first play after the official time out, Jerry Wilson tied up the ball game with a beautiful two hand shot from just outside the foul circle. Utz, high scorer of the evening with 13 points, was then fouled going into the basket and converted one of the free throws to put Shelby out in front. Johnson came right back and tied up the ball game with a free throw.

With one minute of play remaining Cronenwett sank a beautiful one-hander from the side which sealed the ball game.

Freezing the ball in the last few seconds drew the Bulldog defense out trying to take the ball away from the Whippets and opened up a shot for Utz right under the basket which ended the scoring.

The Shelby Reserves defeated Crestline 37 to 25 in the preliminary. Gump and Blosser were high for the young Whippets with 12 points each. Dodd was high for Crestline with nine points.

Ontario 5 Wins 8th In County Loop

ONTARIO—Ontario rolled to its eighth straight Richland county league victory here last night by a 57-30 margin over Butler.

Howard Sunnucks, county's leading scorer, racked up 20 points to pull farther away from the field. Guard Jack Perry was not far behind with 17.

Butler stayed in the game during the first half on long shots by Brokaw and Coon and trailed at the intermission by only 26-18. The Warriors fast break and rebounding strength was too much in the last half as they iced the game as early as the third quarter.

Butler held onto fifth place with a record of three victories and six defeats.

The game was close the first two quarters as Bellville led 22-17 at the half but the Blue Jays pulled away in the third quarter to take a 35-24 advantage. Bellville also won the reserve game 38-28. Jack Cunningham led with 15 points.

Senior High Plays Springfield Tonight

NEW PHILADELPHIA—Mansfield Senior high school had a "foul" time here last night.

In fact fouls, not the barnyard-variety, made the most news as the New Philadelphia Quakers mopped up on favored Mansfield, 67 to 60. Whistle-tooters Tony Grant and Elwood Kammer contributed a discordant note as they were forced to halt the game 61 times for treks to the foul line.

Band-box dimensions of the New Philly floor and some wild and wooly playing by both teams contributed heavily to the record output of personals. Nine players, five from the winning club, were ejected for too many rules infractions and Mansfield actually lost the game from the gratis line.

The Tygers outshot the home club from the court, 24 to 22, but could make only 12 of 35 attempts from the foul line. Coach Tom Kinkade's club, however, connected on 23 of 39 free tosses. In direct contrast, the Tygers enjoyed one of their better nights from the floor, making 24 of 71 shots.

CAN'T WIN AWAY

Mansfield, a faltering road club this season, has now lost four straight away from home. The Tygers will have a good chance to get back on the victory wagon tonight when they meet Springfield Public on the Senior high court.

Coach Vern Hoffman's club has won 15 in a row at home and will enter the fray on even terms with the Wildcats, who have won four of nine games. Last night, Hamilton's fine quintet knocked off Springfield, 60 to 39.

Springfield has only one letterman off a club which slipped by the Bengals, 30 to 29, in 1948. The "vet" is Clive Rush, a fine basketball and football player. A game between the Suringfield reserves and Coach Fred Staub's once-beaten Tyger sophs will open the card tonight at 7 p. m.

STAY UNTIL LATE

Senior high remained a definite victory threat until mid-way in the final quarter when New Philly sprinted to four straight baskets and a 58-to-50 lead. Up until that time the game had been tied on 11 occasions and the lead changed hands 11 times.

The Tygers' chances went begging in the second quarter when the big boys of the team, Norb Shibinski and Ed Demyan, wound up with four fouls apiece. They played little more than half the game. With Shibinski, Demyan and Ed Schmitt, the other tall lad, all out in the late stages, New Philadelphia walked away with the game.

Co-captain Paul Ferguson was the other Bengal to foul out while the Quakers lost four starters and a sub.

Forward Jimmy Anderson was the big scoring gun in the game as his one-handed salvoes paid off for 11 baskets and two free throws. The slender juniors' effort matched his previous high against Tiffin Columbian. Shibinski had 12 and Soph Ken McCally, 11.

LEAD AT HALF

With Shibinski notching six points, the Tygers managed to grab a 14-to-12 lead at the quarter. The second period found the Bengals moving ahead, 31 to 27. Anderson dropped four field goals in that stanza.

The Quakers scored six straight points to open the last half and the score was tied at 33-33, 35-35, 37-37 and 39-39 before New Philly moved in front, 44 to 39. The winners led going into the last quarter, 46 to 40.

Trailing 50 to 42, the Tygers started to roll. Anderson banged home a one-hander, McCally hit a long shot, Demyan connected on a pivot and Shibinski tied the count from in close. Then fouls took their toll and the Quakers raced away.

Reserve teams of the two schools did not play.

Freddies Rap Edison Cagers For 14th Win

FREDERICKTOWN — Fredericktown had its closest call of the season here last night as it won its 14th straight game from Edison, 50-44. The teams were tied 32-32 at the end of the third quarter but Edison finished the game with only one regular on the floor.

Orris Shipman missed the game with an infection and in the fourth period Maynard Goare and Harold Jackson fouled out and Norm Worline left the game with a sprained ankle.

Dick Hardman led Edison with 17 points while Jim Ewers paced Fredericktown with 15.

PERRYSVILLE — Perrysville trounced Nova 75-37 without too much difficulty here last night, as 10 Admirals took part in the scoring spree.

The reserve game was won by Perrysville 30-27.

What We Know of Jesus' Childhood ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

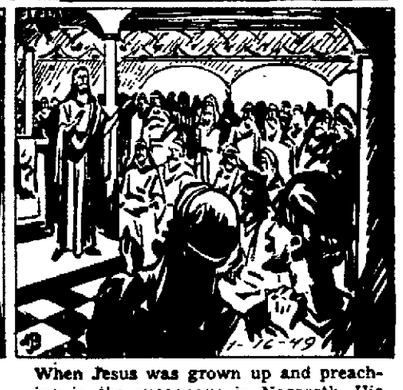
By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 2:13-15; 19:23; Mark 6:3; Luke 2:39-52.

After the departure of the wise men from Bethlehem, Joseph had a dream, in which he was told to take the young child and His mother and flee to Egypt, or Herod would have Him killed, so the three went to Egypt.

After being in Egypt for a short time; Joseph was granted another vision telling him to go back to Israel as Herod was dead. So the little family went back home and settled in the city of Nazareth, in Galilee.

After a visit to Jerusalem to observe the passover, Jesus' parents missed Him on the way home. Turning back to the city, they searched for the 12-year-old boy, finding Him at last in the temple talking to the priests.



When Jesus was grown up and preaching in the synagogue in Nazareth, His neighbors asked one another, "Is not this the carpenter, son of Mary?" and they were offended at Him.

MEMORY VERSE—Luke 2:40.

Bewildered Jury Convicts Burglar Who Prays On Job

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The iron gates of Ohio penitentiary clanged shut today behind an all-time rarity—a praying burglar.

A somewhat bewildered jury heard 31-year-old Horace L. Faulkner testify yesterday that he stood by with clasped hands while two companions — "Slim" and "Chicago"—cracked a safe.

Faulkner said he prayed during the operation. A hotel "fry cook," he told the jury that he was a minister "ordained by the spirits."

The prosecutor wanted to know "what sect." A pause and the accused stated emphatically that there was "no sex to it."

After his partners in crime emptied the safe of about $5,000 in government bonds and cash, Faulkner claimed he was forced to take $40. It was shoved into his hand.

Until he was nabbed by police in Kansas City, he journeyed across the country "preaching the gospel."

He thought it was a night club when he followed his two companions through the basement window of the market.

The jury took eleven minutes to make up its mind. The sentence was two to 35 years.
